How can parents help with Positive Behavior Support?

Parents and guardians play a crucial role in the development of a child's behavior. Here are some suggestions you can use at home to help your child embrace Positive Behavior Support.

- ✓ Be a good role model. Children often imitate behaviors they see at home.
- ✓ Talk to your child about their day.
- ✓ Keep communication between you and your child's teacher active throughout the year.
- ✓ Focus on the positive choices your child is making.

What is school-wide Positive Behavior Support?

Positive Behavior Support is a different way of handling discipline. In a school setting, it cannot be assumed that students know correct behaviors.

Children come from different backgrounds and cultures that view behavior in their own unique ways. When a child misbehaves, the school views it as a skill deficit. Therefore, students are taught appropriate school behaviors and expectations. Students are rewarded when they display the expected behavior.
